

SHAPE YOUR HOME

Given the many hours we spend in our homes, it is no wonder that our house is more than just a functional box in which we live; it emphasises who we are, reflecting our life, our style and taste. Be inspired by how these private homes have improved acoustics without disrupting the initial architecture, thanks to Rockfon® Mono® Acoustic.

1

DISTURBING THE PEACE

For more and more families, it is becoming obvious that our homes are not optimally designed for the activity of a modern family, be it entertaining friends, family or children - noise levels in our home have become alarmingly high, making it difficult to be all together in the same room or to even have a conversation. The importance of good acoustics is something that should be recognised and considered for every home.

CASE STUDY

2

FORM YOUR SPACE

Until now, there have been few acoustic, sound absorbing solutions that were aesthetically suitable for private homes. Even more so than in a public space, we want the surfaces in our home to blend in with the architecture of our homes, using the furniture and interior design to dominate and authentically articulate our individual personality.

3

DESIGNED FOR MODERN LIVING

Rockfon Mono Acoustic is a unique surface solution for both ceilings and walls that will discreetly blend into your home. With its high sound absorption properties, it silently offers you unique acoustic benefits.

Whether you consider acoustics at the design stage of a construction or want to refurbish an existing space, Rockfon Mono Acoustic is ideal.

Its elegant and refined surface complements any modern home and is easily repaired if needed. Its unique acoustic properties control the noise levels, ensuring that your family and guests enjoy themselves without having to raise their voices.

